

LIGHT TALE

Design by 201 Design Studio

Light Tale is inspired by a range of shapes and structures, but mostly by a type of windmill, Light Tale is a floor lamp in which the sense of balance and good proportion work together to serve functionality. The geometric shape of the shade tames and gives a sense of touch to the light which is otherwise an indefinite element.

The tail at the back of the shade gives comfort and ease in directing the light source to the desired location. As the tail of the windmill follows the wind, so does the lamp follow the user.

DAILY MAINTENANCE

When cleaning the copper part, please use a sponge soaked in liquid detergent diluted in hot water. For cleaning the legs of the lamp, use a soft, dry cloth or a damp cloth. Do not let the wood soak for long periods of time. Use only cleaning products with natural ingredients.

LONG-TERM MAINTENANCE

Deoxidize the copper part by rubbing it with a brush, and white vinegar. Avoid direct and prolonged exposure to sunlight as it can cause discoloration of wood.
